AMERICAN RELATIONS DISCUSSED IN GERMAN REICHSTAG

CHINESE GENERAL NOT "ANARCHIST," NOTED CASE ENDS

Col.-Gen. D. J. Wudan Wins Right to Stay in Hawaii and Campaign Against Yuan's Government

BRECKONS, IN BRIEF FOR HIM, POINTS TO HISTORY

Washington, Lafayette, Kosuth, Robert Emmet and Other Liberators Used in Examples of Similar Activities

D. J. Wudan, Chinese nationalist leader and bitter opponent of President Yuan Shih-Kai, has won his fight against deportation from Hawaii as an anarchist and an "undesirable."

Simultaneously the first case of its kind in Hawaii, involving action by the U. S. immigration department against an alleged anarchist, is decided in Washington, and with the decision a question of international importance has been passed upon.

R. L. Halsey, inspector in charge of the U. S. immigration station here, received a cablegram this morning from the department of immigration informing him that the warrant of arrest has been cancelled, and that Gen. Wudan is free to remain in Hawaii.

Gen. Wudan was arrested on November 9, 1915, by Inspector Harry Brown of the immigration staff, under Inspector Halsey's instructions, the latter acting under the direction of the department at Washington. Wudan was charged with being an anarchist, with advocating the overthrow of government, and with being an enemy of law and order.

In particular, his speeches and writings against President Yuan of China and the Yuan government were cited to show that he had used anarchistic expressions of a violent nature.

Charges Expressions Anarchistic. One of the principal allegations was that in a Chinese newspaper of June 7 he had said that Yuan Shih-Kai should be "decapitated" and the editors who favored him should be kept in prison.

Immediately upon his arrest, Col. Gen. Wudan declared that he was arrested because of Chinese politics, not because he was an anarchist. In this connection, a controversy which had arisen between himself and the Chinese consul, Mr. Tze-ang Wuohuan, was brought up to show political enmity to him.

Some time previous Gen. Wudan had wished to visit the mainland United States but Consul Wuohuan refused to "vise" the passport he sought, and without this consul endorsement the United States immigration authorities declined to fill out the passport. This joint attitude of the consul and the immigration office resulted in Wudan being unable to go to the mainland, whereupon he took the matter up with Washington. The immigration office here also took it up with Washington and the department of immigration there declined to interfere with the consular right to give or withhold his endorsement or certificate upon the passport.

Gen. Wudan claimed that because he opposed Yuan Consul Wuohuan, a representative of the Yuan government, was unlawfully declining to fill out his passport. Consul Wuohuan justified his attitude by declaring that he was willing to certify to a passport for any Chinese citizen who complied with the regulations, but that a Chinese who refused to recognize the authority of the Chinese republic could not expect the republic to identify him as a subject.

Local Hearings Held. Gen. Wudan soon after his arrest was given a hearing here before a special board of inquiry, presided over

ANTI-YUAN CHINESE LEADER NO ANARCHIST

Col. Gen. D. J. Wudan, formerly of the Chinese Nationalist army, now in Honolulu, whose fight to prevent deportation by the United States has been victorious, the case being of international importance.

ANARCHIST BAND WOULD KILL OFF EUROPEAN KINGS

Further Developments in the Cronos Case Reveal Sensational Plot

USE POISON, NO BOMBS "UNLESS NECESSARY"

Various American and European Cities Said to Be Used By Gang

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) CHICAGO, Ill., April 7.—What appears to be a plot of world-wide proportions against the rulers of European countries has developed from the poisoning case a few weeks ago when half a hundred guests at a dinner to Archbishop Mundelein, the Catholic prelate, were made temporarily very ill.

Jean Cronos, the assistant chief of the University Club, where the poisoning occurred, disappeared just before the banquet and was police on searching his room found evidence that he is an anarchist and had carefully planned this and other poisonings.

State's Attorney Hoyne now announces that the investigation of Cronos' activities shows that he was part of a gang of plotters who were planning to assassinate European monarchs. The gang headed the list of their intended victims, with the kaiser second. The gang had representatives in various American cities and in Europe. Poison was to be used and "no bombs unless absolutely necessary."

FEDERAL GRAND JURY'S REPORT HITS AT EVILS

Prosecution of Trivial Cases, as Under McCarn Regime, is Condemned

ILLICIT TRAFFIC IN DRUGS ALSO PLAYED

U. S. District Attorney and U. S. Marshal Thanked for Cooperation

Consideration by the local United States court of trivial delinquencies, such as the numerous statutory cases which flooded the calendar during the Jeff McCarn regime, which properly should be taken before the territorial courts, is discouraged in the final report of the federal grand jury for the October, 1915, term, presented today.

"In no instance," reads the report in this connection, "has the grand jury failed to recognize and thoroughly investigate every infraction of federal law and justice in Hawaii brought before it, but we have discouraged the consideration of trivial delinquencies which properly should be taken by the local territorial courts. In the past the time of the United States court and jurors has been wasted in the investigation of matters which are strictly in the zone of the territorial grand juries."

The attention of the court is called to dishonesty in the public service as follows:

"This grand jury has had cases of dishonesty in the postoffices of the territory and the department of justice brought before it. We commend the strict supervision by the inspectors of such departments that has resulted in the indictment of such offenders. The absolute integrity and honesty of each and every employee in all departments of the federal government cannot be too strongly insisted on."

Seeking of the assistance rendered by army officials in the prosecution of cases, the report says: "In the preliminary investigation and resulting indictments of enlisted men of the United States army stationed here, this jury has had the hearty cooperation of the army officers, non-commissioned and line, who

LATEST TIP IS NO SPECIAL SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE

Speaker Holstein Returns to Big Island Without Expectation of Being Called Back By Governor

The tip is out that Governor Pinkham will not call a special session of the legislature to consider the financial hole in which Honolulu has found itself and out of which the city officials wish legislative help to climb.

The governor is said to take the position that such a session is unnecessary, and that it will be so expensive as not to be practical.

H. L. Holstein, the veteran speaker of many sessions of the lower house, is returning to Hawaii tomorrow after a week's stay here, during which he attended the Republican territorial convention. Mr. Holstein also called on the governor, and while it is certain they discussed the possibility of a special session, the member from Kohala regards his talk with the governor as confidential and will not give out what the governor said.

Incidentally, Mr. Holstein in conversation with Mayor Lane put forward a suggestion that may be acted upon by the city as an argument in favor of the session.

One of the reasons advanced why the session should not be called is that it would be for the sole benefit of Honolulu and the expenses should not, therefore, be paid for from the funds of the entire territory. Speaker Holstein has suggested that the city officials might include in their memorial to the governor a statement that the expense of the session would be borne by Honolulu. He is of the opinion that this could be done through an enabling act passed as one of the first actions of the special session. Mayor Lane it is understood thinks very well indeed of the suggestion and it will probably be made to Governor Pinkham.

No developments are expected until some time after the governor returns from Kauai.
